SWAPAN SETH IS AT A LOSS FOR WORDS AFTER EXPERIENCING THE VOCABULARY OF SUJAN THE SERAI IN JAISALMER.

A trip to The Serai is steeped in the secrecy of the sand, the startling surprises that it throws up and the sophistication that it abounds in.

The first thing that strikes you about Sujan The Serai is the magnificence, the spaciousness, the luxury and the comfort spread over the 100 acres of indigenous desert scrub. It is a world of its own, an oasis in the desert, with its own perimeter fence. The architecture is a synthesis of traditional and modern styles. The buildings are low in height, the rooms are spacious, the interiors are rich and the courtyards are well landscaped.

The food was the highlight. The menu was a delight, from the rich, warm colours and textures of the salads to the succulent curries and the aromatic rice dishes. The desert小米 dessert, a favourite, was a perfect end to the meal.

The wine list was impressive, with a good selection of Indian and international wines. The staff was attentive and knowledgeable, always ready to assist and recommend.

The service was impeccable, from the moment you enter the hotel. The staff was friendly and always ready to help. The room was spacious, with a large bed, a desk and a chair. The ensuite was clean and well-maintained.

The hotel was a perfect place to unwind and refresh after a long day of exploring the desert. The location was ideal, with a view of the whole desert and the sand dunes.

In conclusion, Sujan The Serai is a must-visit for anyone looking for a luxurious and serene retreat in the heart of the desert. The attention to detail, the quality of the food and the service make it a truly memorable experience.

The Telegraph
2017